Step nine:

(Recovery)

Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.

Tradition nine:

(Unity)

AA, as such, ought never be organized; but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve.

Concept nine:

(Service)

Good service leadership at all levels is indispensable for our future functioning and safety. Primary world service leadership, once exercised by the founders, must necessarily be assumed by the trustees.

"my mom saved my life"

"My mom saved my life," Hector said. He was standing high above us in the pulpit at Tucson's beautiful historic Spanish-colonial-designed San Augustine Cathedral, giving a eulogy for his mother Maria Elena. Twenty-five years ago, no one would ever have imagined that this man would mature in AA to become a pillar of his church, a well-respected health-care professional, and the lead caretaker for his mother for the past ten years.

I saw him when he came in. He got the same sponsor I did. We went to AA Roundups together, meetings, coffee afterward, and even 12th Step Calls. We were definitely people who would not mix, but we both have a bigger-than-life sense of humor and we loved getting sober.

I'd been listening to Hector tell his story in AA for more than two decades, and I wish I had a dollar for every time I heard him start with, "My mother saved my life." And it's true—no doubt about it. If she had not begged, cried, and persisted, Hector would be back in that park by the railroad yard, pitching in change with the rest of the poor souls to buy a bottle of Mad Dog or Thunderbird.

Hector's dad was an auto-body man and a musician, and was well-loved by everyone in the bars in the barrio. Hector wanted to be just like him: the life of the party, charming ladies' man, and all-around rogue. But as a young man Hector had to watch his father die a painful death of cirrhosis of the liver.

By 1989, Hector got his wish; he was just like his dad. So his mom cried every night and begged him to stop drinking. She told Hector she couldn't stand to lose him like she'd lost her husband, and when he wasn't too drunk (or especially if he was hung over) he knew she was right.

Finally, he couldn't take it any more, his guilt got the best of him, and he told her he would go to AA. She said, "I'm going with you," and took him to a little neighborhood chapel, San Cosme, where there was a meeting. Hector said, "I thought she had told the priest how I acted and he was saying everything that I had done—I thought it was a set up." But Hector kept going,

New Business: 1) The PI (Public Information) Chairperson position is open and needs filled. 2) There is a Board Member at Large position which need filled. 3) The Administrative Subcommittee will discuss the proposal to form a Remote Communities Committee at their next meeting. 4) Motion made and passed to contribute 50 bottles of water to the GV Committee for their workshop.

Area 03 Remote Communities Coordinator: Cyd B. While in my service rotation I have been fortunate enough to be of service to and gain information from many AA members throughout the US and Canada. I am proposing that TAIL establish a Remote Communities Committee. Remote Communities includes not simply the challenges of geographical location, but also includes cultural, physical, language or any other barriers of attendance and participation in AA meetings. Be sure to check out www.Area03.org under "committees" for information and ideas. There is also information available for AA meetings via conference calls, which has proven to be a viable life saving and life changing tool in the outskirts communities of Alaska and Canada. Remote Communities can overlap with Special Needs, CPC/PI, Corrections and Bridge the Gap programs and this gives us all a chance to engage in team work and cohesiveness in our own recovery. Remember: We were put here to be of service through carrying the message of AA. Nobody should have to be alone in AA.

Announcement: Thanks is given to Barry G. for all his service to AA, TAIL and PI.

Adjournment: Closed at 2:57PM with the Responsibility Statement and Declaration of Unity. The next TAIL meeting will be on September 14th at 1:30PM at Central Office.

and his mother kept going with him. There was a new meeting place in the old part of Tucson, an aged adobe store with narrow windows just below the ceiling. It didn't take long before the whole room would fill up with cigarette smoke so thick it made your eyes tear up.

This was no "silk shirt" meeting up in the foothills. Some of the regulars were guys living at the Salvation Army, or just out of the LARC (government-funded rehab). The language was rough, and no one from there was going to win "Tucson's Best Dressed Man" award. Hector said he was embarrassed for his mom to be there, but she was stubborn and would not stop going with him. After about sixty days, Hector said he was okay now and she didn't have to go with him. Nope, she didn't trust him yet. So now his older sisters had to be his babysitters and go to meetings with him!

Eventually, they got the idea that Hector was serious about staying sober, and they left him alone. He got a sponsor, worked the steps, and started working with others. He loved the meetings and the fellowship, and to this day he has the most infectious laugh of anyone I've ever met in AA. It's loud, hearty, and free, right from the gut. Hector didn't laugh so much when his mom got sick, but he put the same kind of focus and determination into her care as he did with the program. It was his way of paying her back for all the grief he had caused her, and for his dad's illness too. Maria Elena lost a husband to alcoholism, but her faith and determination saved her son.

It was fitting that Hector would start his eulogy that way, among his many family members and his even larger adopted AA family. He still says it in meetings, and I agree with him completely. Hector's mom saved his life—and so, of course, did his Higher Power and AA.

Group Spotlight

RETIRED PROFESSIONALS

Every Wednesday @ 7:30 pm at Central Office

This is a men's stag meeting that focuses on readings from the Big Book and includes a short period of meditation at the start. This group of guys started getting together in one of their back yards 6 years ago, talking recovery around a fire. On a camping trip together, a passing stranger asked for help opening a beer bottle. The guys shrugged, probably opened his beer with their teeth and when he asked if they wanted to partake, one of the fellows said "Nah, we're retired professionals." So their name was born and in the years they've been together they've grown into a vibrant joyous group of guys.
